

VOL.4 ISSUE 2
FEBRUARY 2024

Empowering Republican women to have an important voice at the political table

Happy Valentines Day

It's already been a few weeks into the new year, and what a start it's been for WRW! We've hit the ground running with Jim DeGraffenried starting off the new year as our first speaker with great information about the elections, and the energy and enthusiasm was truly contagious.

But guess what? This is just the beginning!

We have an incredible lineup of events, activities, and speakers planned for the rest of the year, and we can't wait to share them all with you. From Diana Sande our February speaker to our new member socials and our annual Boots & BBQ in July, there's something for everyone to get involved in and learn from.

However, to make this year truly amazing, we need your help! WRW thrives on its vibrant community, and your participation is essential for our success. Here are some ways you can get involved:

- Attend our events: Come learn, network, and be inspired by our amazing speakers and activities.
- Volunteer your time: Share your skills and expertise to help us achieve our goals.
- Spread the word: Tell your friends and colleagues about WRW and encourage them to join us.
- Donate: Your financial support helps us continue our important work.

Together, we can make 2024 a year of incredible growth, positive impact, and unforgettable experiences for WRW.

The Power of Never Giving Up

Feb 16, 2021-excerpt from newsletter@epochtimes.com

If you feel disappointed, frustrated, or defeated by the way things seem to be going in our country, keep reading because you're going to hear one of the greatest stories of perseverance in overcoming defeat in American history.

This is the story of one of the most influential American presidents in history. His actual accomplishments, especially at critical times, set the destiny and direction of our nation. They far surpassed the challenges faced along the way, and they were not minor or few in number. Abraham Lincoln lost EIGHT elections before becoming the 16th president of the United States. Here are some of Lincoln's notable defeats:

* In 1832, he ran for a seat in the Illinois State Legis and lost. Two years later, he won and was re-elected three times.

*In 1838, he aspired to become speaker of the state legislature and lost.

*In 1840, he sought to become an Electoral College delegate and lost.

*In 1843, he ran for the House of Rep and lost. When he ran again in 1846, he won.

*In 1854, he ran for the U.S. Senate and lost.

*In 1856, he sought the vice-presidential nomination at this party's national convention and got fewer than 100 votes.

*In 1858, he ran for the U.S. Senate again and lost again.

Finally, Lincoln ran for president in 1860. Things turned out far differently for him and the nation. The rest is history. Abraham Lincoln kept loyal to his ideals, his beliefs, and his vision for America. What if he had stopped after his first defeat?

This month of February, to honor Lincoln's legacy, we want to invite you to persevere and to keep going forward. In these difficult, stressful, and confusing times, we will become stronger and we will NEVER GIVE UP.

WRW Women Attended the NVFRW Leadership Convention

(NvFRW) Leadership Conference was held on January 20th in Minden, NV it was such an insightful and informative experience. If you are nervous about being in a leadership role or thinking about being in a leadership role well, this conference completely put your mind at ease and equipped you with a toolbox full of knowledge and strategies. The topics covered were exactly what you needed, from the nitty-gritty of processing member applications (who knew there was so much involved?) to assessing my own leadership skills.

One of the most impactful sessions was "How to Make Your Case to the People in the Middle." The presenter, Mendy Elliot, was incredible! She provided us with a breakdown by Assembly and Senate District active voters and the Non-Partisan voters is where we need to focus. Her tips on clear communication, effective persuasion, and navigating opposing viewpoints were invaluable. I already feel more confident and prepared to advocate for Republicans this election.

And let's not forget the other amazing presenters! There was our own Phyllis Westrup, Barbara Kirk and Maureen Karas and the NvFRW president Mary Beganyi Each session was unique and engaging, leaving me with a wealth of information to ponder and put into action. I hope you consider attending the next NvFRW event.

WHAT IS QUESTION 3? RANKED CHOICE VOTING

1 CALIFORNIA-STYLE 'JUNGLE' PRIMARIES

The first prong of RCV installs 'open' or 'jungle' primaries—meaning any registered voter, regardless of party affiliation, can cast a vote for their preferred candidate—from which the top five candidates will advance to the November general election.

2 The second prong of RCV requires that voters list their preference of the remaining five candidates for the general election; if no candidate receives more than 50% of first-place votes, then an 'instant runoff' occurs

	1	2	3	4	5
🍏				X
🍎
🍇		X
🍌	X

RANKED CHOICE VOTING COMPLICATIONS AND ERRORS

BALLOT EXHAUSTION

One of RCV's greatest deficiencies is the phenomenon of 'ballot exhaustion'—when a ballot is cast but does not count toward the end election result. This occurs when a voter overvotes, undervotes, or only ranks candidates that have already been eliminated on their ballot. Ballot exhaustion is pervasive in RCV elections; it leaves votes uncounted and voices disenfranchised. 'Exhausted' RCV ballots are discarded—inevitably leading to increased voter disenfranchisement.

DECREASED VOTER TURNOUT

Jurisdictions which have embraced RCV have experienced comparably lower voter turnout. A 2016 Cato Institute study examined voter turnout in five San Francisco elections from 1995 to 2011 and found that the "adoption of RCV exacerbated disparities in voter turnout between those who are already likely to vote and those who are not, including younger voters and those with lower levels of education."

THE CONSTITUTIONAL ISSUE

Whether or not one agrees with the merits of ranked-choice voting, it would be very unwise to enshrine such an unproven and confusing system into our state constitution. If Nevadans choose to enshrine RCV in the constitution and later find the new system to be complicated, burdensome, or otherwise undesirable, a prolonged constitutional process would be required to abolish it and return to the 'one person, one vote' status quo.

COMPLEXITY AND CONFUSION

RCV is needlessly complicated and confusing. RCV urges voters to make decisions about all the candidates on the ballot, prompting them to cast their vote for candidates they may disapprove of or know nothing about. It is likely there will be more candidates on the primary ballot than any individual can possibly research. Moreover, a lack of familiarity with RCV naturally creates more confusion for both voters and election administrators, making it more prone to tabulation error and long-delayed election results.

US SENATE DEBATE

The recent US Senate debate that took place on January 18th at the Atlantis Hotel and Casino. The event brought together a dynamic group of Republican candidates who showcased their knowledge, passion, and dedication to serving Nevada. The debate featured seven candidates vying for the US Senate seat: Bill Conrad, Tony Grady, Jeff Gunter, Ronda Kennedy, Stephanie Phillips, and Jim Marchant. Each candidate brought their unique perspectives and experiences to the table, making it an engaging and informative discussion.

One of the key topics of discussion was increased border security. The candidates presented their ideas on how to address this crucial issue while balancing national security with compassion.

Their proposals ranged from enhancing technology-based surveillance systems to implementing comprehensive immigration reforms.

Another important topic that garnered attention during the debate was cutting government spending and reducing the size of government. The candidates emphasized their commitment to fiscal responsibility and outlined specific plans to streamline bureaucracy, eliminate wasteful spending, and promote efficiency in government operations.

Furthermore, the candidates expressed their stances on anti-abortion policies. With heartfelt conviction, they shared their views on protecting life from conception onward while considering individual rights and medical advancements.

Notably absent from the debate was candidate Sam Brown who has yet to publicly articulate his positions on any of these crucial matters. The unity among the remaining candidates was evident as they reiterated their shared disappointment over Brown's absence, emphasizing that voters deserve clarity on where he stands on these critical topics.

It was evident throughout the debate that each candidate possessed a deep understanding of these complex issues. Their spirited insights and thoughtful answers demonstrated not only their dedication but also their willingness to confront challenges head-on.

As we move forward in this election season, we encourage you to stay engaged with these exceptional individuals who are vying for public office. Get involved by attending local events or researching each candidate's platforms in more detail.

Remember that your voice matters - make sure you exercise your right as a citizen by participating in upcoming primaries and elections.

Christi Myers, a resilient soul at 42, is not just a devoted wife and mother of three but a beacon of strength and courage in the face of life's challenges. Married to her high school sweetheart, Leon, the couple has weathered storms that would test even the strongest bond.

In October, Christi was confronted with the daunting diagnosis of Lobular Invasive Carcinoma. On October 13, she underwent a total bilateral mastectomy, including the extraction of 20 lymph nodes, revealing that 13 were afflicted with cancer. Opting out of breast reconstruction, Christi embarked on a challenging journey of chemotherapy beginning on November 28.

Her indomitable spirit shines bright as she marks the halfway point in her chemotherapy, anticipating 35 days of radiation and a long-term regimen of medication. Yet, Christi's journey is not hers alone; her husband, Leon, recently diagnosed with lymphoma, commenced his own battle starting radiation therapy on January 15. Remarkably, this is not the first time the Myers family has stared down the formidable adversary of cancer. Six years ago, their son Xander grappled with a rare form of pediatric follicular lymphoma at the age of 5. Today, he stands as a testament to the family's resilience and the unwavering support that binds them together.

Amidst these trials, the Myers family achieved remarkable milestones over the past year. Christi, the Director of Nursing at Lassen Community College, was successful, along with her incredible staff, in developing a brand new Registered Nursing program with full Board of Registered Nursing approval. Christi has served as a Court Appointed Special Advocate for the past ten years, served on the Community Church Justice Task Force for several years and is a board member with Leon, a Fire Captain at the city fire department, on the Holiday with a Hero board. Most notably this year, Christi, along with two of her closest friends, created Lassen Resiliency, a non-profit that provides sexual assault forensic examinations to pediatric and adult victims. Christi and Leon continue to contribute to their community despite the adversities they face.

Christi Myers is not just a survivor; she is an embodiment of grace under pressure, an inspiration to all who know her. As the Myers family navigates these challenging waters, their unwavering unity and determination illuminate a path of hope for others facing similar trials. Join us in supporting Christi, Leon and their family as they demonstrate the power of love, resilience and community in the face of adversity.

LOOKING AHEAD

It's not lost on me that the talk show darlings and keyboard warriors are in rare form right now, offering up false dilemmas and pandering to media producers, while I'm focused on avoiding a government shutdown, finishing the appropriations process, and delivering results for Nevada. In addition to advancing Nevada's legislative priorities in Washington, my Reno office is ready to help constituents navigate the federal bureaucracy. Whether it's helping veterans utilize the federal resources and benefits available to them, or resolving issues with Social Security or Medicare, our goal is to make each constituent who is having trouble with a federal agency a priority.

THE BOTTOM LINE

As always, thank you for subscribing to the Amodei Report. I look forward to continuing to keep you up to date on the issues you care about most. For additional information, please visit my website at Amodei.house.gov or call my Washington office: (202) 225-6155, Reno office: (775) 686-5760, or Elko phone: (775) 777-7705. To receive updates on what I am doing in Washington and in Nevada's 2nd District follow me on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram, and YouTube.

Charities to Help Israel

For those of you who want their donations to support Israel's cause, here are the highest recommended charities.

- 1. Magen David Adam (AFMDA) which is the Red Cross of Israel. They maintain a fleet of ambulance (motorcycles included for the narrow streets of Jerusalem and the national blood bank. Several of the medics have been killed since Oct. 7. Website is afmda.org.
 - 2. The American Friends of the Israeli Defense Forces who are the sole organization in US to collect charitable donations for soldiers of the IDF. Their mission is to provide non-lethal supplies to the IDF, like winter coats or body armor. Their website is fidf.org
- Thank you, in advance, for your consideration, Israel needs help now. Submitted by Associate member, Sheldon Werber

Nevada First in the West Caucus Info Sheet

FEBRUARY 8, 2024 - <https://bit.ly/Nevada2024>

NOMINATING PROCESS FOR US PRESIDENT

- ALL elected officials in the United States are elected by a direct vote of the people EXCEPT the President of the United States.
- Presidential candidates are nominated at each party's National Convention.
- Delegates at the National Convention are bound by the results of the caucus or primary held in each state.
- The US President is elected by a vote of the Electoral College.

NEVADA NOMINATING HISTORY

- 1864 Nevada gains statehood. From 1864 until 1948 Presidential Electors were directly elected by the people, except in 1912 when only the Democrats held a primary
- 1949 legislation was passed to have each party select their electors at their state convention
- Primary law was passed in 1953 but repealed in 1955, before the 1956 election.
- Primary law was again passed in 1976, repealed in 1981
 - Closed primaries held in 1976 and 1980
- 1984 until now Nevada has had closed caucuses to bind party delegates, except in 1996 only the GOP took advantage of a one time option for a mail in primary.
- 2021 Legislature passed a primary law for the 2024 cycle, but gave political parties the option of using the results for their nominations or keeping their existing process.

The caucus is the traditional way we have chosen our presidential nominee for decades. Contrary to reports that the NVGOP is trying to confuse Nevada Republican voters, the truth is that the 2024 primary is an all new, very expensive, and meaningless process.

HOW DO I CAUCUS?

Arrive at your assigned caucus location. (Locations will be announced in early December for planning)

- Show your ID and sign in
- Receive your ballot
- You can mark your secret ballot and cast your vote and leave or
- Participate in your precinct meeting, Presidential Preference Poll and elect delegates to the county convention
- The result of the presidential preference poll will bind the elected delegates to the winner to support them at the national convention in July of 2024
- Tabulation of ballots cast is transparent. Anyone participating is allowed to stay and watch the votes count. The votes are secret as your name is not on the ballot. The only person who would recognize your ballot is you.

- Results will be reported by precinct, so you will know for certain that your vote was counted as you intended.

WHY CAUCUS ?

The caucus is the traditional way Nevadans have chosen our presidential nominee for decades. The state run, universal mail in ballot primary elections is unfortunately mandated by law.

The Democrat legislature, under the direction of Harry Reid, forced AB321 through in 2021 with zero Republican support. The law made sweeping changes to how we hold elections in Nevada in the name of increasing voter turnout, but voter turnout has not increased.

The nonbinding primary will cost you, the taxpayer, millions of dollars for undeliverable universal mail in ballots, vote centers, poll workers, partial voter education and the like. All for an election that will award the “winner” nothing but brief, meaningless bragging rights.

The caucus features all the no nonsense protections Republicans have championed for years, including in the 2023 session where Governor Lombardo and our legislators introduced a number of bills to safeguard our elections - Democrats refused to even hold hearings on these bills, which is why Republicans must hold elections using these features anytime the law allows us to:

- Voter ID
- NO universal mail ballots
 - Absentee voting is allowed for active duty military and their families.
- Paper ballots
- Transparent tabulation
- Same day results
- Precinct based voting
- Zero cost to taxpayers or to the state or county parties

FAQ'S

1. What day is the caucus? February 8, 2024. Check-in starts at 5. The meetings will generally start by 6 pm, and should be over by about 7:30. Your assigned location will be listed on the website and communicated to you by the beginning of December for planning purposes.
2. Can I vote and leave? YES. Drop and go voting will be available from 5:00 PM to 7:30 PM
3. Can I participate in both the state run primary and the caucus? YES
4. Will I get in trouble for voting twice by participating in both? NO - One is a state run primary, and one is a party nominating process, so you are not double voting.
5. When is the last day I can register to vote to participate in the caucus? January 8, 2024
6. Should I verify my current voter registration status? YES - under Democrat passed laws, your party registration can be changed without your awareness.
7. How do I check the status of my voter registration? Visit <https://registertovote.nv.gov/>

It's Your Time to Shine: Volunteer for WRW Committees!

Whether you're a seasoned veteran or a budding newcomer, WRW thrives on the dedication of its members. This is your chance to make a real difference by volunteering for one of our vital committees. As a committee chair, co-chair, or member of a committee, you'll play a crucial role in planning exciting events, fostering engaging activities, and keeping our club buzzing with vibrant energy. Think about your passions, your skillsets, and the areas where you feel WRW can soar to new heights. Maybe you're a whiz at organizing social gatherings, a champion for professional development, or a creative spark brimming with innovative ideas. Whatever your calling, WRW has a committee with your name on it!
